

Loyal De Gaulle Troops Repulse Rebels' Assault

Insurgents Try To Seize Naval Base Near Oran

French President Recalls Units From NATO Command

PARIS (AP) — Forces loyal to President Charles de Gaulle repulsed an attempt by mutinous paratroopers to seize a naval base near the rebel stronghold at Oran today in the first big setback to militarist insurrection in Algeria.

The French president recalled French tanks and soldiers from NATO duty in West Germany, called up more reservists and imposed a tight economic blockade on the vast North African territory.

Leave Naval Base
Units of the French fleet left the big naval base at Toulon, apparently headed toward Algeria. Several destroyer and destroyer escorts weighed anchor.

In a show of confidence, De Gaulle sent a message to the National Assembly as it reconvened declaring it should carry on as usual despite his assumption of full powers to deal with the insurrection.

Premier Michel Debre in a speech to the Assembly warned the leaders of the Algerian military junta that they were heading the nation toward bloodshed and civil war. He referred to this morning's attack near Oran, when junta paratroopers tried to capture the big French naval base of Mers-el-Kebir, just outside Oran. They fell back under warning shots from a cruiser in the harbor.

The first shots fired since the uprising broke early Saturday emphasized that the navy stands firmly with De Gaulle. At least some of the air force also was loyal. In addition to 11 planes which escaped to France Monday, six flew in today. Two others landed at Gibraltar.

But the quartet of retired generals who seek to overthrow De Gaulle and reverse his Algerian peace policies held control of the main cities of Algeria with the vociferous support of much of the excitable European population.

French Information Minister Louis Terrenoire, claimed four-fifths of the army in Algiers is loyal to De Gaulle.

De Gaulle's government said it was still in contact with, and presumably held the allegiance of, civil and military authorities of Tlemcen, Mostaganem and Saïda in western Algeria; Orleansville in central Algeria; and Setif, Philippeville, Batna and Djidjelli in eastern Algeria.

Philippeville and Djidjelli are ports. The government was also said to control the port of Bougie, terminal for the pipeline carrying Sahara's oil from the desert to the coast.

Cuba Fiasco Blame Reaffirmed by JFK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has again made it clear that he takes full responsibility for whatever part the United States played in the ill-starred Cuban invasion.

The White House issued a statement Monday night which said: "President Kennedy has stated from the beginning that as president he bears sole responsibility for the events of the past few days. He has stated it on all occasions and he restated it now so that it will be understood by all. 'The President is strongly opposed to anyone within or without the administration attempting to shift the responsibility.'"

There was no elaboration to the White House statement but it apparently was prompted by sharp Republican reaction to a remark by Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall tying in former President Dwight D. Eisenhower with early planning of last week's rebel landings in Cuba.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and former President Harry Truman were to be filled in today on Kennedy's Cuban policy.

Kennedy invited the Republican governor to the White House for a mid-afternoon briefing on the invasion and the problems of combatting pro-Communist Fidel Castro's Cuban regime.

He assigned Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson to fly to Missouri for a similar talk with Truman.

Late last week Kennedy discussed the situation with Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

While the effect of these discussions may be to lay the

U.S. Sees Laos Truce Hazard

Plan Sets No Date For Cease-Fire

United Fund Campaigners

Delmer W. Smith, Salem district manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., has accepted the appointment as vice-chairman for the 1961 United Fund Appeal which will be held in October. Mr. Smith is shown above (seated) with Horace K. Schwartz (left) and James T. Schaeffer, who are co-chairmen of the UF drive this year. Mr. Smith will become campaign chairman in 1962. They are beginning their planning early because last year's community chest effort failed to reach the goal.

Laos Accepts Call To End Hostilities

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The government today formally accepted a joint British-Soviet call for a cease-fire in Laos. A spokesman expressed hope fighting could end by noon Wednesday.

Shortly thereafter, Peiping radio said Prince Souvanna Phouma, backed by the Communist bloc as the legal ruler of the Asian kingdom, "welcomed" the cease-fire proposal. It did not elaborate.

The broadcast said the neutralist ex-premier, stopping over in Communist North Viet Nam after a visit to Moscow and Peiping, called for a peace meeting of all factions Saturday.

The site proposed was Xieng Khouang, stronghold of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao in Laos' central Plaine des Jarres.

A British spokesman in London said he understood the Soviet government "is taking action as far as the Pathet Lao is concerned." Britain and the Soviet Union were sending out invitations for a 14-nation conference to work out arrangements for a neutral, independent Laos. The invitations said the conference would open May 12 in Geneva.

The Laotian government announced its commander in chief is "ready to establish contact at any moment with the responsible head of the opposing forces" to fix the "day and hour of an effective cease-fire."

The three-nation control commission—India, Canada and Poland—which will supervise the truce, is scheduled to hold its first meeting in New Delhi, India, on Friday. The United States has served notice that it will not attend the Geneva conference until a truce is in effect and has been verified.

The flurry of peace moves poses no danger to populations. Announcement of the blast startled Frenchmen absorbed in the Algerian crisis. With France braced for possible conflict with forces following the insurgent generals who control Algiers, Oran and Constantine, the test struck a bizarre note. Reggane is 600 miles south of Algiers and easily accessible only by plane.

The announcement today said the explosion was the last of the above-ground atomic tests of the French program in North Africa. This was taken as an indication that the miniaturization program had been successful.

Government sources said the explosion at Reggane, deep in the Sahara, was another tower shot of "weak" power. They added that "all precautions have been taken so that radioactive fallout

2 Workers Dead Of Columbiana Blast Injuries

Witnesses Tell of Tragic Blast

Relatives Maintain Vigil At Hospital

By CARL NANDRASY

The scene was one of anxious, prayerful waiting yesterday at Salem City Hospital as friends and relatives maintained a constant vigil, awaiting word on the conditions of the workmen injured in the explosion at the Colum-biana Boiler Co. plant. The lobby was filled and persons lined the sidewalks in front of the hospital, waiting, exchanging bits of information on the cause of the tragedy, but mostly just waiting.

The situation became more grave when it was reported that the mishap had claimed its first victim. Owen Cook, 61, of 456 Pearl St., Leetonia, died at the hospital at 1:10 p.m. of extensive burns of the face and a punctured lung.

Bits of news of the holocaust were exchanged by the persons waiting. Several men who escaped injury or suffered only minor injury were among those at the hospital.

Walter Amelung, 25, of Greenford, who received minor injury to a leg and a cut over his left eye, said he was operating a sand-blast at the time of the first explosion and that a canvas hanging near his work helped absorb the initial shock of the blast and protected him.

Amelung said the first explosion blew him off his feet out a rear door and into a fence. "Bodies were flying all over" as he sailed out the door, he said. He said he climbed the fence and ran, as others were doing.

A second explosion came as he was climbing the fence, Amelung reported. He said it was so intense that the steel door under which he had been thrown, "waved like wash on a clothesline."

He said he saw Carl Bartholomew, who was working on the tanks just before the first explosion, running through the factory like a "human torch," his clothes

Airport Here Included In Federal Plans

The Federal Aviation Agency today recommended that improvements be made at 31 Ohio airports, including the H & E Airport on the Ellsworth Road here.

The FAA also urged that a new airport be constructed at East Liverpool.

The general improvements recommended at the Salem airport include acquisition of land re-habilitation and widening of the landing strip, removing of obstacles and construction of aircraft parking area.

Similar improvements were okayed for the airport at Alliance.

The Canton-Akron airport also is included in improvement recommendations for carrier facility airports.

FAA Administrator N.E. Halaby, in a report to Congress Monday, estimated it would cost about $1.1 billion to carry out the agency's recommendation that 465 new airports be built through the nation and 2,834 existing ones be improved, within the next five years.

Such costs in the past have been borne about equally by the federal government and the state or local governments involved.

Halaby emphasized that the recommendations made in the National Airport Plan do not mean that either the local community or the federal government is committed to begin the improvements or take part in financing them.

The plan, he said, merely details "airport needs which should be satisfied during the next five years to keep pace with the growth of aviation."

CATHOLIC PASTOR DIES

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Rev. Joseph F. Zabawa, 54, pastor of Transfiguration Catholic Church, died Monday in Marymount Hospital. He had been in failing health for five years.

Ordained here in 1933, he became pastor at Transfiguration when it was dedicated in 1944. Archbishop Edward F. Hoban will be celebrant of the pontifical high mass Thursday morning at Father Zabawa's church.

Through such a network, advocates say, school children, young people in high school and college, adults both in the cities and on the farms, and relatively confined older persons could share in lectures, readings, demonstrations, films, and dramatic, musical and other offerings from a variety of sources.

The 1959 legislature set up a commission to study the possibilities of such a network. The bill considered today would let the commission decide whether transmission facilities should be leased or state-owned.

While the Senate was engaged with this and five other measures, the House had six bills on its floor vote agenda, too. Among them was a Senate-approved (37-0 March 28) bill modernizing Ohio's law covering commercial transactions.

The bill is said by its backers to be part of a nationwide move to make commercial law uniform in all states. Two years ago, a similar bill got hung up in the Senate in the last minute rush—after having passed the House by a narrow margin—and died.

The House agreed Monday, 94-32, to a Senate amendment which would make the arrangement to divert $15 million more a year to local governments effective Jan. 1, 1962.

The next move in connection with the much-publicized bill is up to Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, and he is expected to veto it. However, leaders of the Republican majority in both houses of the legislature say they think they can find enough Democratic support to override the expected veto.

Eighteen Democrats supported the amendment Monday, while one Republican, Guy C. Hiner of Stark County, voted against it. It was offered on the floor of the Senate, and approved, last Wednesday at the time that body voted 24-13 in favor of the mail bill. The bill, a Republican platform measure, was passed by the House, 109-25, March 8.

Berserk Elephant
Kills Elderly Man,
Injures Trainer

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—An elephant suddenly went berserk Monday and trampled to death an elderly man and injured its trainer as hundreds of bystanders stood by in helpless horror.

The 40-year-old elephant, named Henrietta, had spent the morning pulling children in a wagon around a shopping center parking lot. At the time of the accident she was tethered near a truck.

"I don't know what happened, she must have gotten scared," said Earl Tillman, 20, of La Grange, Tex., the trainer.

Tillman said he saw James John Orr, 67, walking around the elephant and the animal suddenly swung at Orr.

Orr started to run. Before he got five feet the elephant knocked him down.

"I started to run over to him and before I got there she had her foot on him," he said. "I don't remember anything after that."

Orr died a few minutes after being trampled.

Witnesses said the elephant grabbed the trainer by the arm and tossed him over her back. Tillman suffered a broken arm and bruises.

After the accident the elephant was locked in the truck and placed under guard.

The elephant formerly was owned by the James Christy Circus and is now owned by Marlin Plunkett of La Grange.

Lisbon Council Okays 2nd
Reading of Annexation Bill

LISBON — Village Council Monday night passed the second reading of an ordinance which would authorize the annexation of 45 acres of land, east of Rt. 45 and north of village owned by Robert Williams.

Williams plans a residential development project in the area.

In other business Robert Kelm, street committee chairman, listed a number of streets needing repairs with hot tar and slag. The streets are S. Market and Washington; Pritchard and E. Lincoln Way intersection; Jerome and Lee Ave.; W. Maple, Beaver to Lincoln; E. Washington from S. Market St. to Jackson; on the square; W. Lincoln Way, Beaver and Chestnut intersection; and Chestnut and Market. The work is expected to start as soon as weather permits.

Council discussed water drainage problems on E. Washington St. and Beaver St.

The lawmakers signed a fire reciprocity pact with East Palestine similar to the agreements the village has with Leetonia and Columbiana.

Mayor Dean Stockman reported that Boy Scout Troop 92 of the First Presbyterian Church will clean up the square as a community service project next month.

Lodge Thorne, chairman of the recreation and good will committee of the Lisbon Ruritan Club, asked Council for permission to build a road around the public swimming pool and to put up picnic tables, grills and ovens as a Ruritan project. Council men said they didn't think a thorough road was needed there and tabled the request.

Mayor Stockman reported on the three-mill levy which will be on the ballots at the May 2 primary. He said the levy would yield $18,000 a year, which the village badly needs. He reported that a house taxed at $2,000 would cost the owner an additional 50 cents in taxes a month if the levy passes. He said the average home in Lisbon was listed at $3,500 for tax purposes and would cost the property owner $10.50 more a year in taxes if the levy is approved. The levy needs a 60-per-cent vote to pass.

Bills of $6,468 were ordered paid. Council's next meeting will be Monday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m.

Open Monday and Friday Evenings State and Lincoln

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Not long after this columnist was hit, word came from Cuba that a young plantation labor leader had called together his council representing 790 sugar cane locals. He spoke. They passed a resolution of protest. They agreed with their chief that an injury to one is an injury to all—even if the injury is perpetrated by terrorists thousands of miles away.

Now, some years later, that labor leader is with me as I write. He is eager to talk swiftly, for he is just a few hours away from hitting the beach.

He is Carlos Rodriguez Quesada of Las Villas province, where the first wave of anti-Castro invaders moved in.

Senor Quesada, who had just "come out" in a tiny boat, spoke of the angry Cuban workers whose stomachs now were as empty as their hearts were filled with hatred for the Communist regime.

It was, he said, like Stalinist Russia. The right to strike was gone.

When the electrical workers called a work stoppage because their pay had been slashed and their taxes hiked, the firing squad arbitrated the dispute.

THREE LEADERS — William Lex Sante, Julio Caselles Amigo and Orlino Mendez Perez were shot down without trial. Another was sentenced to 30 years at hard labor.

The charge was "counter-revolutionary and terrorist activities." That's what a strike meant to Castro.

Others, said Quesada, did not need to strike. They were jobless—by the tens of thousands. The breweries had stopped because there was no cork for the bottle caps.

The tobacco factories had shut down because there was no paper or filter for cigarettes. The cigar plants were down because of the American boycott.

Four tire mills were closed for lack of rubber.

Thousands of salespeople were unemployed because their stores had been burned out and there were no construction material replacements.

Those industrial workers who had jobs could buy little. There was no butter. Most lard now was Russian lard from bears, not pigs. To buy even that meant buying a pound of Russian meat, bad meat. Cuban meat? There were five million head of cattle when Castro came out of the mountains. On April 15, there were only one million. Castro's "INRA"—the Agrarian Reform Office—had killed off the rest.

"I saw them slaughter, for food, half the prize breeding bulls," Quesada snapped, "some worth upward of $15,000 each."

OFT TIMES there was little money even for what little was left. There were new 13½ percent taxes. Special year-end workers' bonuses were ended by the state trusts. And atop all this there were deductions of full days' pay—such as the time Patricia Lumumba was killed.

Most workers were forced to contribute a day's work to a fund to build a statue to the pro-Communist Congolese.

"But I am a peasant man," Quesada said. "Let me tell you of the workers in the Las Villas unions."

"Our people have been paid $2.86 a day. Less that tax. But not in cash. We were paid in paper script for work in the state-owned sugar cane fields. We could only buy in the state-owned stores at enormous prices."

"We always were in debt. So we really were serfs tied to the soil. Our people slowed down, burned down cane and boycotted the work."

That's why critics of the regime were rounded up regularly and sentenced to one day's forced labor in the fields. That's why on March 29 the director of the national penal institutions were ordered to dispatch prison inmates to harvest the crops.

THAT'S WHY "Friends of the Cuban Revolution" groups in most Latin American countries were alerted to the recruiting of voluntary harvesting groups. On April 6, for example, a band of 25 Costa Rican peasants from the Heredia district were flown to Havana to work in Castro's fields.

They were flown out in the same plane which flew in with the Cuban baseball team. The voluntary cane cutters were rounded

The Kennedy-Republican Talks

Reaction to President Kennedy's requested meeting with top Republicans, including former President Eisenhower, can be divided into two categories.

One of them is personal: What is the chief executive up to?

The other is impersonal: Is something big in the wind?

The two are related, of course. One of the subjects discussed in each meeting was Cuba. This suggests the President is planning some major move to unseat Red-lining Fidel Castro's regime and wants either the support or the advice of his political opponents, or both.

THE WHOLE SERIES of conferences with Sen. Goldwater, former Vice President Nixon, Mr. Eisenhower and, perhaps, Gov. Rockefeller, is just the sort of thing that creates excitement among pundits, excitement that rubs off on ordinary citizens.

Some interpret the invitations to talk as political. What can be more shrewd than to use the flattery of an invitation and the personal charm of a face-to-face meeting to undercut the sharpness of potential political criticism?

Some interpret the meetings as an example of leadership. What is more natural, in the conduct of foreign affairs, than the President's attempt to persuade his opponents that they must support him in this vital area?

Some interpret the talks as a sign of caution. In the aftermath of an abortive invasion of Cuba and in the face of Communist stalling on other world problems, what would be more logical than the President's sounding out opinion from all sides before proceeding with major decisions?

Some even say the talks signify a touch of humility. If, as is the case with most new presidents, Mr. Kennedy has found the burdens of his office even more awesome than he had imagined, wouldn't it be natural for him to seek the advice of other leaders on matters affecting the security and welfare of the entire nation?

THE FACT that any of these interpretations can be reasonably applied to the series of the conferences indicates that perhaps all of them are factors.

An effective president must be politically shrewd, possessed of leadership abilities, cautious and sometimes humble. That is what his constituents really expect of him.

If the talk means that something big is in the wind that will mark a major shift in or implementation of foreign policy, Mr. Kennedy's constituents will be reassured to know that he consulted with the top men of his political opposition.

For the talks indicate that the President is aware his constituents include those who voted against him as well as those who voted for him.

How Minimum Is Minimum?

President Kennedy has scored a victory in the Senate's support of his bill to raise the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour. The triumph is viewed by his supporters as a powerful weapon for bringing the House back into line, since that body previously passed a bill trimming down the White House proposal.

Whatever specifics may be included in the ultimate measure, however, will leave unanswered the question of whether any boost in the minimum wage at this time is wise.

What is gained for the national economy if the minimum wage is raised against a background of high unemployment? Is there an assurance that all of the individual workers the bill seeks to benefit actually will profit by the increase?

THERE MAY BE some justification for using a legal increase in rock-bottom pay scales to reflect a general improvement in the whole economy or in the standard of living of the economy's individual members. But that is an effect, not a cause.

It certainly cannot be argued that a boost in the minimum wage can be used as an instrument to revitalize a drooping business picture. There are too many other legitimate causes of the sag at work to make the artificial minimum wage increase effective.

From the standpoint of the employer who is trying to hold the line against rising costs until business improves, a forced hike in the pay of the people he hires would require some compensatory action on his part: He would have to reduce the number of people he hires or reduce their hours, or, in extreme cases, both.

This would result in more unemployment or less net employment. It would not increase the spending power of the economy.

FROM THE STANDPOINT of the individual worker, it would be hard for him to see where he had gained a thing by the congressional action.

It is difficult to argue with the emotional arguments about the level of the minimum wage. It is extremely low. But that is what the word "minimum" implies.

And there are workers in the labor market who expect to get the minimum. They are the very young, the semi-retired, the unskilled, the incompetent. Their place in the total economy is marginal at best, which means the minimum wage increase may very well have the effect of cutting them off entirely because the so-called minimum is above what they expect — or in some cases deserve — to get.

The emotional arguments may prevail in the legislative process, but they cannot prevail against the very hard facts of economic life.

Blood Saves Lives

The tragic explosion and fire at the Columbian Boiler Co. plant yesterday focused attention again on the importance of the Red Cross blood program in the district.

Because of the success of the donor program, whole blood and blood plasma was available as soon as the first victims were brought to the hospital. Doctors and nurses quickly administered the blood that is so necessary in burn cases.

This and other blood ready for use at a moment's notice from the Regional Blood bank is made possible by the periodic donations of local and district residents. The supply will be ample to meet any disaster so long as donors continue to respond, although there are quite a few citizens who don't seem to comprehend until the need is felt close at home. You can give June 8 when the Bloodmobile returns here.

Once Over

A Jersey bank celebrated its birthday by throwing a picnic in the bank for depositors. Two thousand pounds of ham, beans, salads, etc., were dished out. Potted plants were given to women. Kiddies got balloons and other toys.

Friendly note in banking has come along fast. For years banks were austere, dripping with dignity and seemingly outposts of Arctic exploration.

A banker who smiled was distrusted by customers. His frigid manner was taken as proof of honesty and economic wisdom. Side-whiskers helped.

But banks have warmed up all over. They are centers of jollity, affability and good fellowship.

"Hi, ya, pal" seems a greeting as proper for bank president as a formal card requesting a two-minute interview once was. The chairman of the board may be seen in high spirits arranging an indoor barbecue or costume ball for depositors.

You expect to have the treasurer, Hon. J. Tadwaller Fosterwiggan say "Call Me Smiley." But Jersey bank picnic hit new high in friendliness. The idea may be widely copied.

We look for the following bank sales pitches: "Make Your Deposit In The Bank With The Best Sandwiches and Coffee." "This Trust Company Counts Your Money, But Not Your Calories." "The Bank With The Best Menu In Town." "Get 3½ Per Cent Compound Interest and 100 Per Cent Good Luncheon Service." "You Bring Your Good Book; We Bring the Refreshments." There is such a touch of show business sweeping over banks that we may hear of special family matinees.

Flu And Lung Cancer

By STUART H. LOORY

Even though he had been dean of the Yale University Medical School and one of the most respected men in the field of pathology (the study of biological disorder), Prof. Milton C. Winternitz, who died at the age of 74 in 1959, had one theory scientists just couldn't accept wholeheartedly.

His theory involved influenza and the role that relatively common virus disease plays in causing lung cancer. As a young pathologist, Dr. Winternitz studied the effect of the flu on the lungs of many Americans who succumbed to the 1918 epidemic in which influenza became the greatest plague of all time, taking 20 million lives around the world.

PROF. WINTERNITZ noticed permanent scars left on the lungs which he said would make those who survived the flu susceptible to lung cancer. Nonsense, said his colleagues, the two diseases are unrelated.

As recently as last January, Dr. Gilbert W. Beebe, a medical statistician working for the National Academy of Sciences, published a paper showing that 7,000 World War I veterans who suffered from pneumonia (probably related to previous influenza) had no greater lung cancer rate in later life than the general population. This, Dr. Beebe implied, refuted Prof. Winternitz.

But three researchers from the University of Southern California Medical School think otherwise and have performed experiments on mice that, they claim, proves Prof. Winternitz's theory to be correct.

Their findings were delivered to scientists in a hitherto unreported paper delivered at the recent meeting of the American Association of Cancer Researchers in Atlantic City.

The paper was delivered by Dr. Dean V. Wiseley, an assistant professor of pathology at U.S.C.

Dr. Wiseley described work that overcame the greatest objection to the Winternitz theory. That objection was that the influenza virus had never been implicated as a cause of cancer in laboratory animals.

Dr. Wiseley and his associates,

Dr. Paul Kotin, professor of pathology, and Dr. Irving Gordon, professor of microbiology, took 400 mice of a species in which it is very difficult to induce lung cancer. They divided the mice into four groups of 100 each and placed them in sealed chambers.

INTO ONE of the chambers they introduced filtered air in the influenza virus. The mice, quite naturally, came down with the flu.

Into the second chamber, they introduced artificially manufactured Los Angeles smog (which is believed to cause lung cancer). The mice in this chamber developed no disease.

Into a third chamber they introduced both the flu virus and the smog. The mice here first developed flu and those that survived that disease then developed lung cancer of the same type which humans suffer.

For purposes of comparison, the mice in the fourth chamber received only filtered air and came down with no disease at all.

The key findings were in chamber No. 3 where the mice got both influenza and cancer. Explaining what happened, Dr. Kotin said the flu virus changed the cell structure of the lung walls permanently. Then, he said, the cancer-causing agent made the cells malignant. That is the damaged cells spread over the lung walls, smothering the healthy cells.

Dr. Kotin now believes there must be some lesion such as that caused by influenza in the lung in which cancer causing agents can get a foothold before the disease claims a victim.

"Of course in no way do we suggest this is the only mechanism by which lung cancer develops," Dr. Kotin said in an interview. "What we have done here is to take Winternitz's findings and say 'Milton, you died too soon, you just didn't have the opportunity to study influenza and polluted air together.'"

Unmistakable Stand

President Serves Notice On Soviet Union

President Kennedy made a great speech at the meeting here of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. It was great because he served notice on the Soviet Union that the United States would fight, if necessary, to resist Communist encroachment in this hemisphere.

The address David Lawrence was notable, moreover, because Mr. Kennedy reaffirmed the doctrine of all preceding presidents from Monroe to Eisenhower, who have insisted that this hemisphere must remain free from European domination.

Perhaps the most significant passage, however, was the clear warning to the states of Central and South America that they are in more danger than is the United States and that they must face realistically their obligation to join with this country in defense of the hemisphere.

Mr. Kennedy by implication urged the inter-American states to stop dragging their feet and to recognize that the issue is one of survival for them, too.

For several months now, Communist influence in various countries to the south has produced friction, and even anti-American demonstrations at a time when hemispheric solidarity was more than ever necessary.

Mr. Kennedy in his speech made it plain that armed intervention was not necessarily barred if circumstances should develop that would require it. He said:

"Any unilateral American intervention, in the absence of an external attack upon ourselves or an ally, would have been contrary to our traditions and to our international obligations. But let the record show that our restraint is not inexhaustible.

"Should it ever appear that the inter-American doctrine of non-interference merely conceals or excuses a policy of non-action—if the nations of this hemisphere should fail to meet their commitments against outside Communist penetration—then I want it clearly understood that this government will not hesitate in meeting its primary obligations which are to the security of our nation."

What the President didn't say explicitly, but did imply, was that the situation inside the Central and South American states might be such that the Communists would be able to prevent cooperation with the United States, and that hence this country would have to act alone, if necessary, in order to save the other countries.

THE REAL POINT the President stressed with respect to the inter-American states is that their own security is in far greater danger than that of this country. He said:

"It is clear that this nation, in concert with all the free nations of this hemisphere, must take an ever closer and more realistic look at the menace of external Communist intervention and domination in Cuba.

"The American people are not complacent about iron curtain tanks and planes less than 90 miles from their shores. But a nation of Cuba's size is less a threat to our survival than it is a base for subverting the survival of other free nations throughout the hemisphere. It is not primarily our interest of security but theirs which is now today in the greater peril. It is for their sake as well as our own, that we must show our will. . . .

"Together we must build a hemisphere where freedom can flourish; and where any free nation under outside attack of any kind can be assured that all of our resources stand ready to respond to any request for assistance."

THIS WARNING long has been overdue. Mr. Kennedy described accurately the Communist technique all over the world and showed the true significance of the Communist tactics in the cold war.

He said that everything, heretofore, has been focused on military operations and military strategy, when, as a matter of fact, Communist subversion is such that, as he put it, "our security may be lost without the firing of a single missile or the crossing of a single border."

Mr. Kennedy made a pledge to the world that the United States intends to intensify its efforts and re-examine its forces and tactics in order to fight effectively the Communist subversion, penetration and infiltration in the free world.

Does it mean war? It could mean war if the Soviets chose to commit an overt act in this hemisphere. So far as the United States is concerned, it has served notice through its President that there is to be no compromise or surrender. His concluding words were a challenge, as he said:

"I am determined upon our system's survival and success, regardless of the cost and regardless of the peril."

Mr. Kennedy's speech was favorably received by the editors and the comment afterward was that he had stated the position of the United States with restraint but with a firmness that was unmistakable. It was a fitting occasion for a speech that depends for its true effectiveness on being printed and heard around the world.

Choice of Epitaph

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It has been one of my lucky fortunes to meet and interview many of the celebrities of our time.

The question I've asked them they disliked most was, "If something happened to you, what would be your own choice of your epitaph?"

Most of the celebrities I've presented this question to have politely ducked it.

Girls in particular are reluctant to be committed by an answer. A girl at her best picks her own idea of her renown and the last thing she would like to have to state would be her choice of the words on her tomb.

In this respect famous men are like famous women. They hesitate to face their disappearance from a world they have enjoyed to meet a reward they undoubtedly have earned but have no appetite to pursue alone.

And so they stumble and cavil about the epitaphs they would choose. But here are a few honest answers I remember:

Comedian Morey Amsterdam—

"He was a nice guy."

One of the wealthy Whitney scions: "He loved his country."

And Bob Mitchum of Hollywood: "I was interrupted."

When I told Bob Hope about Mitchum's choice of an epitaph he laughed and declined to give one of his own.

The other question which I have asked many celebrities and found it does interest them and they are quite willing to answer is this: "If you had to summarize the meaning of life in one word that expressed your own attitude toward living, what would it be?"

While this may be a sophomoric query—and it is—there is no other question I have asked of people that is more spontaneously evocative of reply.

Gary Cooper said "Sincerity," and Myrna Loy said "Love." Bob Hope said "Applause," and for that I respected him utterly, because he is a professional.

One thing you do discover about our country when you ask a person, whether he is a celebrity or not, what his synonym for life is—most people are optimistic.

They believe in this world.

The Doctor Says

Nursing is an Ideal Career

Are you a high school girl or the parent of one? If so you may be interested in a pamphlet entitled "Your Nursing Services Today and Tomorrow" which has been issued by the National League for Nursing and the Public Affairs Committee.

As the husband and father of registered nurses, I am surely prejudiced commentator. But it is my sober opinion that nursing is the ideal profession for the career girl and the best possible training for marriage, child bearing and child rearing.

Perhaps this statement was not always valid. It was not so long ago that nurse's training was "like a two or three year hazing," to borrow a phrase.

FRESHMEN rarely had a day off. They were not allowed to engage in social conversation or to date. Curfew was 9 or 10 p.m. with maybe an occasional midnight pass.

Between ward work and lessons, the girls put in a 12 to 14 hour day. They were exploited in the wards where most of their time was spent performing menial tasks. And at graduation those who continued their careers usually had few alternatives other than to do institutional nursing for which they were paid meager salaries.

TODAY all that is changed. Girls who have had two years of college training can get their bachelor degrees as well as their nursing registrations (R.N.) at the end of three years.

They are encouraged to pursue outside interests for broad cultural training after their official eight-hour day is completed. The curfew most often is midnight so that there's not the need there used to be to dash back before the end of a dance or a movie. Most training schools have gymnasiums, swimming pools, recreation halls and even "beau" rooms to which girls may invite their dates. Social contacts with medical students, internes and other visitors are encouraged.

Notice has truly been taken of the emancipation of women! Ward work, dispensary duties

EXECUTED—Howard Anderson of Yakima, Wash., service station operator in Havana for many years, was executed by a Cuban firing squad. He was convicted of "anti-Castro activities." Two Americans were executed; the other was Angus McNair of Miami.

and visiting nursing activities concentrate on patient orientation. And after graduation a wide field emerges in public health nursing, nursing education, industrial nursing, visiting nursing, social service work, physiotherapy, rehabilitation, airline hostessing and enlistment as officers in the several branches of the armed services. And, in most instances, the basic pay is higher per week than many nurses once received each month.

ONE LAST HOSANNA in this hymn of praise. The cost of the nursing education is a fraction of the cost of a college education. And many scholarships are available for eager, worthy girls.

A tip to all young swains. Nurses make very fine wives and mothers, but don't think I'm running a matrimonial agency. The pamphlet may be obtained through the Public Affairs Committee, 22 East 38 St., N.Y. 16, N.Y. on receipt of 25 cents.

About 10,000 reservists have been called back to military service and the callup is continuing, the government said.

The number of troops brought back from the 50,000-man French force in West Germany was not disclosed.

Two nights ago Debre warned that the mutineers in North Africa might try to seize Paris or other centers in metropolitan France with a paratroop invasion. Citizens were called to the alert and told to rush into the streets if they heard sirens indicating an attack was under way.

The combat troops from Germany were sorely needed to bolster the power of the army at home, where most of the 250,000 troops are in training and service units.

A total of 44 passengers and the crew escaped without injuries. The plane was 10 miles from the air field when one motor became inoperative, causing them to return. A tire blew out and a fire started when the plane crashed.

The group was returned to Youngstown Monday night.

Canton Man Sentenced For Holdups

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mike John Koury, 44, of Canton, Monday was sentenced to 30 years in a federal prison for participating in three bank robberies in Northeastern Ohio in 1959.

Miss Beverly Osborne, 27, also of Canton, is to appear before U.S. District Court Judge James C. Connell Wednesday for sentencing. Judge Connell sentenced Koury to 20 years on the first count and 10 years each on counts two and three. The sentences on the last two counts are to be served concurrently following the 20-year term, the judge specified.

Koury and Miss Osborne were convicted by a federal court jury April 14. Shortly after the verdict was returned, Koury admitted to a newspaper reporter that he and two other men planned the robberies and that he drove the getaway car in all three.

At the same time Koury asserted that Miss Osborne had nothing to do with any of the holdups.

A total of $63,694 was taken in the three robberies. They were: County Fair Branch of The Citizens Savings & Loan Co. of Canton, $15,108; South Arlington Plaza Branch of The Akron Savings & Loan Co., $8,976; and Highland Park Branch of The Commercial Banking and Trust Co. of Wooster, $41,510.

in operation as soon as possible," said Russell J. Barrow, company president, but he was unable to even estimate a possible date or to as much as guess to the amount of damage in dollars to the plant.

He said the company was waiting today for insurance inspectors to survey damage before a major cleanup is launched.

Barrow said a major point in determining damage and a date for resumption of work is the condition of the extensive electrical wiring system and electrically-operated equipment in the plant.

The interior of the shop was doused with water following the blasts by the automatic sprinkling system and firemen's hoses.

The explosion occurred at 8:27 a.m. and is believed to have been caused when refrigeration gas leaked from one of the tanks that had been brought into the plant for repair and the fumes were ignited by a welder's torch or upon contact with a furnace.

The tanks were shipped to the factory last Friday, it was learned.

Chamber Supports School Tax Levy

The Chamber of Commerce, at its general membership meeting at noon Monday in the Lape Hotel, agreed to endorse the 4-mill school tax levy that is to be decided by voters at the May 2 primary.

The decision to endorse the levy was reached after an extensive study was made of the measure by the Chamber's legislative committee, headed by chairman James Aldom.

Lozier Caplan, C. of C.'s highways committee chairman and chairman of the Salem Charter Commission, reported on progress of the Rt. 62 bypass and proposed city charter.

Richard Wilson, second vice president, presided over the meeting in the absence of both President Walter B. Null and Bob Oswald, first vice-president.

Atty. Bryce Kendall of Salem, Dr. Paul Beaver of Leetonia, Mrs. C. S. Palmer and Cornell Monda of Lisbon were elected to the board of directors.

Mayor William Shoub of Wellsville, president, said the directors will meet Wednesday, May 3, to elect officers.

Dr. Marion Estes, consulting psychologist at Aultman Hospital in Canton, was the guest speaker.

Monda, psychologist of Lisbon schools, was the program chairman.

LAND SALE APPROVED

The Ohio House of Representatives agreed Monday to the sale of land in Columbiana County to the Salem Hunting Club, Inc., and to Harry O. Rhodes Jr. of Salem, proceeds to be credited to the School Lands Trust Fund.

The land is located west of Salem off the Damascus Rd.

Charter Proposal Would Have Mayor Pick Law Director

Salem's Charter Commission, at its weekly meeting Monday night to continue preliminary work on drafting a suitable city charter, decided to have the city's director of law appointed by the mayor under the new municipal plan.

The group set aside a decision on duties of the director of public service for next week when further information on the city appointment is presented by City Councilman Harold Asbury and Atty. Guy Mauro, two members of the commission.

Duties of the director of finance were tabled by the group for discussion at a later date.

The commission will discuss a report by Norman Eckfeld on "Initiative, Referendum and Recall" at next week's meeting.

Absent from the 15-member commission last night were James Aldom, Mayor Dean Cranmer and John Herman Jr.

Defense Denies Mayor of Dover Accepted Bribes

CLEVELAND (AP)—The defense told a Tuscarawas County jury Monday that gambling flourished in Dover in 1958 and 1959 and for many years before, but that Mayor Clifford C. Froelich neither condoned it nor accepted bribes to allow it to continue unhampered.

Russell Bowers made the opening statement in the trial of Froelich, charged with seven counts of accepting bribes from gamblers.

In Judge John H. Lammek's Common Pleas Court, Bowers also contended gambling had been commonplace in other Tuscarawas County cities, but that the county prosecutor's staff decided to pick on Dover. He said Froelich was tougher on gamblers than previous mayors.

The mayor, the state has charged, received about $1,500 from gamblers to allow them to maintain operations—even though they paid occasional fines.

The mayor collected money for worthy causes, Bowers said, anywhere he could get it—"even from gamblers."

Bowers noted that Froelich took money from George Markos, 64, of Dover. Markos has been convicted of bribing Froelich.

"Markos gave money to Froelich for contributions," Bowers said. "The gamblers got no protection. The mayor was weak in many ways. He was foolish in many ways, and I would say stupid in many ways," he added.

James Patrick, former prosecutor who, with Prosecutor Harlan Spies, will attempt to show the mayor accepted bribes, made an opening statement which consisted of reading the indictment and a bill of particulars.

Commissioners Okay Travel Expenses

Columbiana County commissioners Monday approved payment for $25 expenses to be incurred by the County Civil Defense organization in a future test.

They also approved travel expenses for Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin of East Liverpool; Robert Bycroft, county welfare director; Walter Hunston of East Palestine; Galen Greenisen of Salem and Frank Wilson of Wellsville to visit Camp Zaleski in Logan County near Lancaster today and tomorrow. The camp is on the same lines as the juvenile work camp Judge Tobin wants to establish in this county.

Commissioner Greenisen will go to Columbus Thursday where he will attend a state commissioners' meeting.

FINED BY COUNTY JUDGE — EAST PALESTINE — Charles R. Bibbee of RD 1, East Liverpool, operator of the B & B Sanitary Service, was fined $20 and costs Monday by County Court Judge Herbert E. Arfman for failure to have a county permit.

He hadn't had a permit since 1958, according to court testimony, and had been warned repeatedly. Harry Stockdale, county sanitarian, made the arrest.

From the 11th to the 13th centuries, Chichen Itza was the most important city in the Yucatan peninsula of Mexico.

Grynspan said he received a blow in the face and fell into a ditch. One of his sons helped him out and said, "Run, father, run, or you'll die."

Some people did die, he said. "They died of heart attacks."

The Jews were herded across the border into Poland. The Poles put them in a military camp. Two days later, on Sunday, the first food arrived—a truckload of bread for the 12,000.

"Some were lucky," Grynspan said. "They got some bread. Others were not."

He said he wrote a letter to his son in Paris.

"And this son," assistant attorney general Ya'akov Bar'or said dramatically, "was Hershel Grynspan."

"Yes," said the father.

This was the last question. Eichmann's lawyer, Dr. Robert Servatius, did not cross-examine the witness.

ing completely engulfed in flames. Bartholomew, 52, of RD 1, Columbiana, had as Monday's work the job of opening the large number of "empty" tanks which normally hold refrigeration gases.

Amelung said Bartholomew had commented earlier in morning that "I've got a pretty good job today opening these tanks." He died last night at 11:58.

Carl Marx, 23, of RD 1, Lisbon, who is in fair condition in City Hospital with second and third degree burns of the body, was welding at the time of the first explosion. Witnesses say he was blown approximately 25 feet from the first blast, with the second burst sending him out a door of the factory.

Amelung said that from his observation point after being blown out of the shop "the whole interior of the building looked like a large ball of fire."

He said a large cloud of mist was formed when Bartholomew opened one of the tanks. The first explosion is thought to have been set off when the cloud reached the welding torches or a fired furnace in the shop.

Many Workers Dazed — For about five minutes after the second blast, Amelung said, all the men, including himself, appeared dazed and wide-eyed as if they could not believe it happened. The uninjured workers overlooked fear of additional explosions though and began tending to the injured and pulling them out of the building, witnesses said. About 65 men were at work.

It was reported by persons in the hospital lobby yesterday that one of the most seriously injured men whose clothes had been burned from his body walked to a car before collapsing, and as yet does not know who brought him to the hospital.

An automatic sprinkling system at the factory helped check a possible more extensive fire in the shop building.

The entire main floor of the shop was covered with about a half-inch of water by the sprinkling system. Fire to the building was confined to the roof area above the sprinkling system, but was quickly extinguished by members of the Columbiana Fire Department.

Tribe Jars Orioles on Phillips' Grand-Slam Homer

Bubba Snaps 1-1 Tie In 6th Frame

BALTIMORE (AP) "Hit the ball out of the park, son." That was the advice Cleveland third base coach Luke Appling whispered to Bubba Phillips in the sixth inning with the bases loaded and one out. The score was 1-1 against Baltimore's Orioles.

Phillips followed the advice perfectly. He whacked one of Milt Pappas' pitches over the wall at the 380-foot marker. The first grand-slam homer in the major leagues for the 31-year-old third baseman provided the Indians with a 5-1 triumph Monday night.

Up to then Jim Perry (2-0) was in a tight duel with Pappas (0-2). The Orioles scored their only run in the first frame on a double by Jackie Brandt and a single by Jim Gentile.

Perry, who needed relief from Frank Funk with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth, gave up seven hits, but was unusually wild. He walked seven and struck out five.

Perry said it was the most men he'd ever passed. "It was hot and muggy," he explained later, "and a change from the cold weather. Maybe that's why I walked 'em." Phillips, a quiet Mississippian, let his bat do all the talking for him. "I listen, not talk," he says. "That's why you don't get in trouble."

The Indians tallied all five runs in the sixth frame—with only two hits. Perry led off by reaching first on second baseman Marv Breeding's error. Johnny Temple, who walked twice and singled once to raise his league-leading average to .472, got one of his free passes.

Then Tito Francona, also rapping at a heat, singled to left, scoring Perry and sending Temple to third.

Jim Piersall grounded out as Francona moved to second. Temple had to hold at third. The Orioles decided on a little strategy at this point. Pappas was ordered to intentionally walk Willie Kirkland and pitch to Phillips.

Vic Power and Francona divided four of the Indians' six hits. The Orioles had seven.

The irony of Phillips' big home run is that the blast gives him the lead in that department among the Indians. He has two of the three he has hit this season. The lack of a home run punch has been one of the Cleveland weaknesses thus far.

Gary Bell (0-2) was slated to face left-hander Steve Barber (1-1) in the middle match of the three-game night series tonight.

Hebert Wins Houston Classic

Beats Out Venturi In Sudden Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Jay Hebert moved on to the Texas Open today after winning $7,000 in a sudden-death playoff with Ken Venturi in the Houston Classic to move up to fifth place among golf's 1961 money winners.

Hebert, Lafayette, La., native, sank an eight-foot birdie putt to beat Venturi after the Californian had tied an 18-hole playoff by picking up three strokes on the last four holes.

Venturi won $3,600 for his second-place finish to move up to seventh place among money winners. Tournament officials said each player would get at least $600 more as his part of Monday's gate.

Hebert arrived in Houston in 17th place on the money list. He left with an official PGA total of $14,457.50 for the year. Venturi now has won $13,767.50.

Venturi's 18-hole finish reversed Sunday's final round of the 72-hole tournament. Hebert picked up five strokes on the last five holes Sunday to tie Venturi at 276 and send the Classic into its third straight playoff.

Both drove into the rough on the sudden death hole but recovered well and made the green. Venturi's drive hit a spectator, but no serious damage was done.

Hebert chipped two feet inside Venturi — about eight feet from the cup — and watched Ken miss his birdie putt.

Hebert took three practice swings, shifted his feet twice and sent the ball into the cup to end the Classic's first sudden death playoff.

Leetonia Mentor Mentioned

E. Palestine Coach Goes to Maple Heights

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Another successful, young high school football coach has announced his intentions to leave Columbiana County to accept a better paying job elsewhere in the state.

Howard Weyers, 27, head football coach at East Palestine for the past two seasons, has been named to a similar post at Maple Heights High School near Cleveland.

Weyers, whose Bulldog teams won the Tri-County League title his first year at East Palestine and tied for the top spot with Poland last season, said he accepted the Maple Heights job because of the "tremendous challenge and more money."

MAPLE HEIGHTS, a rapidly-growing community with a current population of 38,000, has one high school. There are 1,700 high school students this year, and a huge freshman class of 700 is expected next year.

"Another thing that makes this such a great challenge," Weyers remarked, "is the fact that Maple Heights has won only two games and tied one in the last three years. Before that they had good football teams."

Maple Heights is a member of the Greater-Cleveland Conference which includes such schools as Berea, Bedford, Euclid and Wiloughby North.

Weyers will be succeeding Hal Smith, who asked to be relieved of his coaching duties at the end of last season.

Weyers, a former Greenville, Pa., High School and Thiel College all-around athlete, served as an assistant coach at North Royalton and Ellwood City high schools before coming to East Palestine. His two-year record at East Palestine was 17 wins, two losses and one tie. The Bulldogs had won three straight Tri-County League titles prior to Weyers' arrival.

SOME OF THE OTHER successful football coaches who moved out of Columbiana County for better paying jobs in Ohio in the last three years include Salem's Earl Bruce who went to Sandusky; Leetonia's Pat Mancuso, who moved to suburban Cincinnati; and East Liverpool's Lou Venditti, who will be coaching in Canton next season.

Weyers was selected at Maple Heights from a list of 87 applicants. He will be accompanied by his new post by Don E. McCright, who has been Weyers' assistant at East Palestine. They also attended high school and college together.

Weyers still has positions for two or three more assistants at Maple Heights. He confirmed that the Board is willing to offer one of those posts to Chick McBride, head basketball coach and assistant football coach at East Palestine.

Johnson TKO's Clay In Second

Hopes for Bout With Guilio Rinaldi

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold Johnson, fresh from a successful defense of his National Boxing Association light heavyweight championship today found himself in the same old rut—waiting for Archie Moore.

Johnson, 174, scored a second-round technical knock-out over Von Clay, 175, a fellow Philadelphian, Monday night.

Clay, 21, with a 13-3-2 record before the scheduled 15-rounder, never had a chance. Johnson, 32, veteran of 16 years in the ring, knocked him down once in the first round and three times in the second.

Referee Dave Beloff stopped the uneven match at 2:28 of the second with Clay a badly beaten young man.

Johnson said he knew this first defense of the title he won Feb. 7 with a kayo of Jesse Boudry at Miami Beach, wasn't going to last long.

"He (Clay) is a good puncher but a very slow puncher," said Johnson. "I could see his left jab coming. I knew then all I had to do was let him lead that left and cross with my right and it wouldn't be long."

Beloff stopped the fight in the second after Clay went down for the third time. Under Pennsylvania rules, three knockdowns in one round automatically ends a fight.

Where does Johnson go from here? He has to wait and see whether Moore, who is recognized as light heavy champ in New York, Massachusetts and Europe, can make the weight for a title defense June 10—against Guilio Rinaldi. If Moore doesn't get down to 175—there is doubt he can—Johnson may substitute for him.

The Cleveland Indians won 27 games by one run last year but lost 20 by the same margin.

Yankees Are 4-3 Victims

Tiger Win Streak Extended to Eight

The Detroit Tigers extended their winning streak to eight straight Monday defeating the New York Yankees 4-3. The triumph enabled the Tigers to retain their first place margin in the American League by half a game over the Minnesota Twins who took a 10-inning, 10-6 decision from Kansas City.

In the only other American League game, Cleveland defeated Baltimore 5-1. Rain washed out the scheduled game between Los Angeles and the White Sox in Chicago. Boston and Washington were not scheduled.

Minnesota rallied for three runs in the ninth to overcome a 6-3 Kansas City lead furnished by Marv Throneberry's three-run homer in the bottom of the eighth. Catcher Earl Battey's leadoff single ignited the tying rally. Two Athletic errors and Bob Allison's single filled the bases in the tenth against loser Bud Daley and set the stage for Battey's game-winning blow. Ray Moore, in relief, was the winner.

The Tigers extended their winning streak to eight straight as Frank Lary continued his hex over the Yankees. The stocky little right-hander hurled a seven-hitter to lift his lifetime mark against the Yankees to 24 victories and only 8 defeats.

Rookie Steve Boros and first baseman Norm Cash led a 10-hit attack against loser Bob Turley and two relievers. Boros cracked three hits and drove in two runs. Cash put his team in front with a fourth inning home run.

Basilio Quits Ring, Takes Up Farming

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Carmen Basilio, his battle-marked face showing the effects of almost 13 years in the ring, started a new life as a gentleman farmer today.

The craggy-jawed former world welterweight and middleweight champion announced Monday night that he was finished with boxing for good.

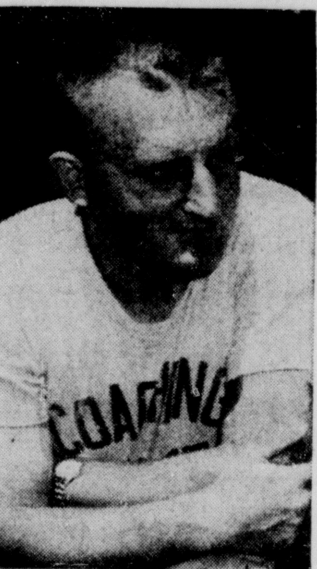

"Right now," said the 34-year-old Basilio, "I'm going to rest for about a week, think things over and take care of my apple trees."

He started out as an onion farmer and barely eked out a living before he turned to fighting. Now he has about eight acres of apple trees on his suburban Chittenango farm.

"I've done a lot of work on it, but there's plenty more to do," he said. "I'm moving slowly and getting help from experts. You might say I know my onions, but I still don't know my apples."

Basilio took a bad beating from Paul Pender last Saturday in Boston. Pender, defending his New York Massachusetts-Europe version of the world middleweight championship, not only won a decisive decision, but had Basilio off his feet for the first time in his career.

Vic Wertz of the Boston Red Sox leads the active American League players in lifetime grand slam homers with nine.

Howard Weyers

However, it does not seem likely that McBride will accept the offer, Weyers stated.

MENTIONED prominently as a possible successor to Weyers at East Palestine is another Tri-County League Coach, Ike Farrah of Leetonia. Farrah replaced Mancuso at Leetonia last year.

"Right now I would have to say I am not interested," Farrah commented. "It would take a tremendous offer."

The Leetonia mentor, whose team posted a 1-8 record last year, indicated that he does not want to leave Leetonia after a losing season.

"I think football is on its way up here again," Farrah remarked. "We should have some outstanding teams the next two or three years. I have had wonderful support from the townspeople, the administration and the kids and I think I owe it to them not to leave after a losing season."

One Game Separates Top 4 Teams

Pittsburgh Shades Milwaukee 7-6

By JOE REICHER

Associated Press Sports Writer

At the start of the season, the National League managers predicted a five-team race with a sixth team, the Cincinnati Reds, having an outside chance. The league standings today make the pilots look like geniuses in the guessing department.

Only one game separates the first four teams after two weeks play. Another game separates the seventh-place Milwaukee Braves from the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers, San Francisco, St. Louis and Pittsburgh, the other three in the top-rated five, are tied for second place.

In the only game played Monday Pittsburgh edged Milwaukee 7-6 to drop the Braves one game out of the cellar. To further illustrate the closeness of the National League race, had the Braves won, they would have bolted into second place.

Bob Friend won his third without a defeat for the Pirates but he needed ninth inning help from Clem Labine. The veteran right-hander allowed only five hits through eight innings and went into the final frame leading 7-4.

Wes Covington's single, an error and a sacrifice produced one Milwaukee run. Friend got John Demerit to fly out but when Johnny Logan singled in a run, Manager Danny Murtaugh summoned Labine from the bullpen. The sinker ball specialist got Roy McMillan on a grounder to end the game.

Milwaukee 100 003 002—6 7 1
Pittsburgh 000 401 11x—7 13 2
Buhl, Piche (4), Drabowsky (6), McMahon (7), and Lau; Friend, Labine (9) and Smith, W—Friend, (3-0), LDrabowsky (0-1).
Home run—Pittsburgh, Mazerowski (1).

Russians Force U.S. Cage Squad Into Overtime

MOSOW (AP) — The U.S. men's basketball team, unbeaten but thoroughly tested in its first two games with the Russian national team, left for Kiev today on the second leg of an exhibition tour of the Soviet Union.

The U.S. team, lead by All-American Jerry Lucas of Ohio State, overcame a shouting, jeering crowd of 16,000 and a determined Russian aggression Monday for an 84-81 overtime victory that concluded the Moscow phase of the eight-game series.

Lucas was the difference. Rebounding effectively against the tall Russian squad that included 7-3 an Krumminsh, the Buckeye standout scored 20 points and wound up his fine performance by scoring the clinching basket.

The American women's team was not in the same class with the Russian squad, bowing 55-45 for its second loss in two games.

80 Golfers Take Part In Field Day At Robbyn's Knoll

Rain failed to dampen the spirits of the 80 golfers who took part in the Robbyn's Knoll Golf League Kickoff Field Day Saturday at the Robbyn's Knoll course.

Numerous prizes were awarded. Gene Dean won a medal for posting the best score of the day—a 40. Frank "Flick" Entrikey was runner-up.

Some of the other special winners included John Drakulich, the shortest drive; A. V. Myers, closest to the pin on the drive; Frank Entrikey, longest putt; John Sebo, most balls in the pond; and Jack Leipper, longest putt.

Walt Taylor, Jack Haupt, D. Johnson, Biggie Wilson, J. Pike and R. Rice were other special winners.

Harry Lodge, Russell Lodge, Jerry Jeffries, Bob Bryan and Norm Houger prepared the spaghetti dinner which was served to the golfers.

The new Robbyn's Knoll club house was dedicated at the Field Day. The next Field Day planned by the league is scheduled for July 15.

More Records Fall

Salem Junior High Trackmen Win Again

Coach Jerry Martin's potent Salem 7th and 8th grade track teams posted impressive victories over their counterparts from Alliance State St. Junior High yesterday afternoon at Reilly Stadium.

Led by Ronnie Hofmann, who won three events and anchored Salem's winning 440-yard relay team, the local 7th grade power house buried the Alliance 7th grade, 55 1-3 17-23.

Kirk Ritchie set a new record in the 120-yard hurdles in pacing the Quaker 8th grade to a 48 1/2-33 1/2 victory.

THE NEW 8TH GRADE standard in the 120-yard hurdles is 15.8. Ritchie clipped almost two seconds off the old record of 17.4.

The only other track event won by the Salem 8th grade yesterday was the 440 relay. Dick Ehrhart, George Murphy, Larry Scullion and Ritchie toured the one lap in 53.7.

Salem won the 8th grade meet with impressive strength in the field events. Jeff McArtor copped the six-pound shot put with a heave of 44-5. Dick Ehrhart, Ritchie and Frank Fitch gave the Quakers a sweep in the high jump.

Another Salem sweep was recorded in the discus where Dennis Beery, Ronnie Morrow and Harold Schramm finished in that order. Beery's winning throw was 87-8. George Murphy won the broad jump for Salem with his leap of 15-8 1/2. Ritchie tried for third in this event.

RONNIE HOFMANN and Jim Windram each snapped the Salem 7th grade record in the 75-yard dash. Hofmann won the event in 9.0 while Windram was second at 9.1. The old record was 9.5.

The record, however, was given to Windram. Salem 7th and 8th grade records are broken down into lightweight and heavyweight divisions rather than by grades. Hofmann weighs more than 110 pounds so is carried as a heavy-weight. Windram is a legitimate lightweight.

Besides winning the 75-yard dash, Hofmann copped the 220 in 26.9; the broad jump at 14-1; and anchored the winning 440 - yard relay team. Dick Miglarini, Howard Fowler and Windram were the other members of the winning relay team which was clocked in 57 flat.

Gary Stoddard turned in an impressive 1:05.3 in winning the 440-yard dash for the Salem 7th grade. Other Salem winners were Howard Fowler in the 120 - yard hurdles, Mickey Fromm in the shot put and Chuck Alexander in the high jump.

LITTLE LIZ

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You must be the meanest, most cold-hearted woman who ever lived. How could you have given such unsympathetic, callous advice to that 17-year-old girl who was expecting a baby out of wedlock? When I read her letter and your advice I got so mad I couldn't look at the rest of the paper.

How can you tell a girl to give up her baby for adoption? Do you know what you are asking? Do you realize that a baby is the most precious of God's gifts?

A girl who has made a mistake should not have to give up her own flesh and blood, in addition to the other punishment she must suffer.

You must be an old maid without a single human emotion. It's obvious that you don't know what life is all about. — FORMER READER.

Dear Former Reader: I won't direct my remarks to you because I assume you are not reading the column any longer but for the others who were along the same line (and several did) I would like to say this:

Circumstances vary but in the majority of cases it is, in my opinion, best for the mother of an out-of-wedlock child to give up the baby for adoption.

I happen to believe that the child has rights which must be considered. In this day and age it's difficult enough to rear well-adjusted, productive children WITH a father. I believe it's an injustice for a mother to attempt to defend their position by claiming their love is so great that they simply can't give the child up.

Such "love" is questionable. It is a sick kind of love turned inside out — an unwholesome blend of self pity, mixed with self destruction and a touch of martyrdom. This isn't mother love — it's smother love, with all the suffocating aspects that the word implies.

The unwed mother who has genuine love for her child wants him to have a decent life in a conventional, socially acceptable home environment. She is willing to give him up so that he can have such a life. This is the greatest sacrifice — and the greatest love.

Office Sluggards

Dear Ann: I'm a career girl who has been promoted recently to a very fine position. I want to make good but I have a difficult problem. Most of the women in the department which I now supervise are older than I am. They resent me because I came up from the ranks and superseded them.

Their work habits are sloppy. They get in late and run out early. They waste too much time on the phones, in the washrooms, visiting around the office and on 30-minute coffee breaks.

How can I crack down without making enemies and looking as if I'm bucking for company president? — XYZ.

Dear XYZ: Have a meeting and explain what is expected of the women in your department. Then tell them what will not be tolerated. Be friendly but firm. The incompetents and the loafers should be given two warnings — then a farewell handshake and walking papers.

Confidentially

TO IN-THE-DUMPS: Well, get out of 'em. Who do you think you're going to meet there—besides more "Wrong Numbers"?

TO LILY WHITE: Mother pin a rose on me! You sound too good to be true. In fact, I'm plenty suspicious of the whole story.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Columbiana OES to Aid Cancer Campaign

COLUMBIANA —A goal of $1,000 has been established for the Columbiana community Cancer Crusade, according to Mrs. Kenneth Rowland, general chairman and worthy matron of the Order of Eastern Star, which has volunteered to conduct this year's fund campaign.

Although she also is busy making plans for the annual inspection of the O.E.S. here, Mrs. Rowland said the tentative program in the cancer fund drive calls for a door-to-door canvass this weekend by Eastern Star members, assisted by Order of Rainbow for Girls. Coin containers are being placed in business houses as another collection source.

Committee chairmen named to date for the crusade include: Mrs. Rowland, memorials and special gifts; Mrs. Donald Gormley, contact of clubs and other organizations; Mrs. Eleanor Schmidt, contact of merchants and distribution of coin containers, and Mrs. John Elder, participation of Rainbow Girls.

The Eastern Star inspection is scheduled for Thursday night at Dixon school, with Mrs. Edna Conrad of Louisville, deputy grand matron, to visit in the role of inspecting officer. Preceding the program, a dinner will be served at 6 p.m. at the First Methodist Church.

City Cleanup Does Not Include Garbage

Service Director James Feiler warned again today that the city-wide clean-up now underway does not include garbage pickups.

Service department workers collected 21 loads of junk from curb lawns in the southeast section of the city Monday and found garbage among some of the receptacles.

"We are not hauling garbage," he emphasized and he also said that if people don't have their refuse in containers at the edge of the street "we will not come back when they say they have been missed. We are starting out at 7 a.m. every day this week and we will not have time to make call-backs."

Among men, firearms is the commonest method of suicide. Poisoning outranks other methods with women.
